

Maastricht Innovation in Higher Education Days 2017 (MID2017) Internationalisation in a digital age

On 31 January – 1 February 2017, the first Maastricht Innovation in Higher Education Days will take place at EIPA in Maastricht, the Netherlands. Stakeholders will discuss the challenges and opportunities of internationalisation in higher education by new modes of teaching.

The Maastricht Innovation in Higher Education Days are organised by EADTU in cooperation with the Open University of the Netherlands (OUNL), Maastricht University (UM), the European Institute of Public Administration (EIPA), the city of Maastricht and experts from EDELNet and SCORE2020.

Topics of the days will be international course and curriculum collaboration, virtual Erasmus mobility, part-time study and MOOCs. The event includes a Policy Forum of key representatives in innovating higher education (HE), focusing on international education. Innovations in education will be supported by presentations of achievements in the EDELNet and SCORE2020 programmes in four workshop sessions, respectively on international intensive programmes, Summer schools and joint intensive programmes and a dedicated session on Internationalisation of higher education by MOOCs.

Participation in the Maastricht Innovation in Higher Education Days is free of charge, but registration is required. For more information about the Maastricht Innovation in Higher Education Days, the full programme and registration, please visit our website.

“EDELNet presentation: international intensive programmes in action (31 January 2017)

EDELNet means European Distance Education in Law Network. The Open University of the Netherlands, the FernUniversität in Hagen and the Universidad Nacional de Educación a Distancia formed in 2014 a Strategic Partnership in this name. The EDELNet programme 2015-2018 is funded by the EU and contains over 20 separate projects. The core of this programme is formed by three sets of joint international Summer Schools: for Bachelor, Master and PhD. We will present an overview of the achievements in the programme until now as an example of a successful international intensive programme in action.

Internationalisation of Higher Education: impact of online, open education and MOOCs (31 January and 1 February)

The SCORE2020 consortium organises a multiplier event focussing on the globalisation and internationalisation of Open Education and MOOCs. This event focusses on the role of MOOCs in virtual mobility, credits for MOOCs, online programs and the need of cross-institutional collaboration and regional support centres. The importance of regional support centres on open education are discussed both at a policy level as well as showcasing the various educational services such support centres offer to the region.

Workshop Summer schools and joint intensive programmes: Good Practices (1 February 2017)

Most institutions on Higher Education include in some form international activities and exchange in their programme. But when does it work? How do you synchronize with foreign partners? How do you engage the teachers? How do you value the students' performance? How do you pay for it?

In the workshop we will exchange, compare and learn from best practices concerning short educational events in higher education involving students and teachers from multiple countries. The focus (but not exclusively) will be on the field of Law and Humanities, and on three themes: International cooperation; Didactical approaches and Curricula, Valuations, Financing.
